Please enjoy Andreas Brantelid (cello) performing Fauré's Berceuse, op.16 with Bengt Forsberg (piano). We also invite you to view and share Andreas in conversation and performance with Larsen Strings online

"When you find the right combination (of strings), it's a wonderful feeling. It gives you a direct connection between you and the instrument."

We are pleased to announce our partnership with the Danish-Swedish cellist Andreas Brantelid. Andreas is the recipient of numerous awards and has played with all of the major Scandinavian orchestras. He is also a dedicated chamber musician and has performed at numerous festivals.

Andreas plays the "Boni, Hegar" Stradivarius, 1707.

Andreas Brantelid's Blend of Choice

A Soloist Strong, D Soloist Strong, G Arioso and C Magnacore Strong.

Andreas has stayed true to the Larsen Soloist A string throughout his musical career principally because the Soloist A uniquely brings both warmth and projection.

The combination of Soloist and Magnacore provides the ideal balance of power and subtlety. As a soloist, Andreas needs to rise above the orchestra and yet still retain the intricate qualities of sound texture and tonal characteristics so evident in his performance.
